

MESKIMEN UPDATE

Summer was a lot of fun for us, and we hope it was for you, too!

I was a guest-star on three television shows, Parks & Recreation (my second appearance on that comedy), Days of Our Lives, and the FOX series, Lie to Me, starring Tim Roth (below.)

In Lie to Me, I play a Czech counterfeiter, which was fun, and I was reunited with director, Eric Laneuville (below) with whom I worked in the eighties, when he directed me in commercials for Tic Tacs. It had been so long, Eric couldn't remember what we had worked on together (but did recall that I had incredibly fresh breath.)

Behind the mic, I provided voices for several games, including MAG, Command & Control and Assassin's

Creed, as well as a new episode of The Boondocks, and the new Jay Leno Show.

The Acting Center, the Hollywood based school for actors that was founded by Tamra Meskimen, Bill Kilpatrick, Christopher Smith and Eric Matheny, celebrated its third anniversary in September. TAC has been providing a great place for veterans and beginners alike to practice their acting in a completely safe and non-critical environment. And now, The Acting Center is offers classes in Improv using the same philosophy. I can't recommend it highly enough. It's where I hone my skills as a performer. For more information, go to:

Tamra Meskimen and I participated in a live reading of the 1940 Sci Fi story, "One Was Stubborn", by L. Ron Hubbard, which was a special performance for the writers, illustrators and judges of the prestigious L. Ron Hubbard Writers and Illustrators of the Future contest. The reading, which took place this year in Hollywood, also starred Josh Thompson and R. F. Daley (pictured above). As a memorable treat, jazz legend Chick Corea performed the pre-show concert, accompanied by his wife, the magnificent singer Gayle Moran Corea.

Emotions In The Workplace, the industrial film I scripted, narrated and co-directed with Gary Ravenscroft had its world premiere on August 19th at the Landmark Theatre in Los Angeles to rave reviews! The film is designed to help executives understand the part emotions play in management, and features myself, Tamra and Taylor Meskimen.

It is now available on DVD, and you can view the trailer at www.emotionsdvd.com. ΔJM
